January 2017

We received terrible news today that the very talented, award winning producer and co-writer of one of our titles: ROAR: Tigers of the Sundarbans, was one of the 39 people killed in the nightclub terrorist attack in Istanbul, Turkey earlier this month.

Until you are personally impacted, these horrific acts of violence that happen in the world can often be apathetically viewed as collateral damage to the times we now live in. When we heard about this terror attack on the news, it never occurred to us that one of the victims would be a member of our Fantastic family.

To help celebrate Abis’ work, you can view trailers and behind the scenes of ROAR here: http://www.fantasticfilmsinternational.com/screeners/#roar_tigers_of_the_sundarbans

Although his life was cut short, his passion for filmmaking will live on.

Our condolences go out to Abis' family and friends.

Sincerely,
Fred deWysocki and Roxane Barbat
